Summary of Change Requested:

Moat and castle as a pairs game.

Current Rule Book Wording:

N/A

Suggested New Rule Book Wording:

The 1st and last legs of the Windsor castle game are taken to make the game into a pairs game.

A large cone at pole 1 and a bucket half full of water at pole 4 with a tennis ball in it.

Rider one starts with a turret and places it on the cone at pole 1 they ride to the top and cross the changeover line

Rider two rides to the bucket in line with pole 4 and collects the ball from the bucket either mounted or dismounted and then places it ontop of the turret before crossing the line

Reason for Change Request:

Another team game that can easily be made into a pairs game. It also brings an aspect of skill that is not seen in pairs competitions in the ability to lean off your horse to collect the ball.

Actual Adopted New Rule Book Wording:

Windsor Castle

1 cone in line with the first row of bending poles, and 1 bucket half filled with water and with an Orb floating in it, in line with the fourth row of bending poles, offset between the bending pole lines. Rider 1 starts with a turret.

Rider 1 rides to the castle, places the turret on it, and rides to cross the changeover line.

Rider 2 rides to the bucket, collects the orb from it, rides to the castle to replace the orb on the turret, and rides to cross the Start/Finish line.

The orb may be collected from the bucket by Rider 2 either mounted or dismounted.

If the bucket is knocked over, it must be replaced on its mark upright with enough water left in it to float the orb.

Reason for Decision:

Makes sense and will be a good addition to the pairs games (although it is being called Windsor Castle rather than Moat and Castle.

Implementation Date:	January 1 st 2018
